The DIMMER VIEW

More on the Cuban Caper

The U.S. Press Association, which serves this newspaper among others sent out an advisory this week over the signature of editor H. A. Philbrick, who does a national scene wrap-up under the head of Washington-Exclusive.

He says:

"It is an open secret around Washington that the Congressional CIA Investigation Committee, headed by Senator Frank Church, has in its possession iron-clad information which links John and Robert Kennedy directly with assassination plots against Fidel Castro.

"All of which raised several questions, such as:

"—So who is 'covering up' now?

"—And, since former president Richard Nixon was denied 'reasons of national interest' for withholding information, what excuse can be used now?

"—And, does not this information provide the motive for Fidel Castro to have ordered and carried out the killing of President Kennedy through his 'Fair Play for Cuba' constituent and admirer, Lee Harvey Oswald?

"—And, does not this information suggest an urgent need to reopen the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy?"

This is a news story that has more to come, he advises.

But on a nationally televised interview Sunday Sen. Frank Church said that there was no hard evidence that any former president or high level government official was involved in assassination plots against foreign heads of state.

He said that the findings resulted from a recent CIA probe.

Conde Frustrated Over Hasty Jail Transfer

Third District's Supervisor Sheriff John Duffy, Conde Lou Conde last week failed in his efforts to set a public hearing on the proposed establishment of a County Department of Corrections to take the jail away from the Sheriff. On his motion, seconded by Supervisor Lee Taylor, the Board voted 3-2 against a public hearing.

Although some testimony was taken during the Board session — including that of

ANGEL WINGS — Seven-year old Elaine Taylor is carried from a sheriff's department helicopter soon after it landed in the Golden Avenue School playground early on a foggy morning Thursday — her six-day kidnap ordeal over. Our alert photographer got this exclusive photo — the only one of Elaine's arrival at the sheriff's Lemon Grove office, a half block away. In custody is Alberto Varon-Ibarra, charged with the kidnapping. Gathered around the Lemon Grove office were more than 25 newsmen and photographers waiting for details of the end of the search and the apprehension of the kidnap suspect. They were held up pending the arrival of the little girl's family and a doctor. After a brief press interview, her family whisked her home in Calavo Gardens just east of Spring Valley. Sheriff's Sgt. Bob Torbett of homicide was in charge of the search.

Slab Death Implicates Grove Man

A Lemon Grove man has been named as a suspect in the bizarre case in which a man was found encased in concrete.

The man is Leslie A. Hopkins, 20, of 1415 San Altos pl. He pleaded innocent Friday in San Diego Municipal Court.

His brother, Albert Burnett Hopkins, 31, a Lindbergh Field skycap, has already pleaded innocent to a first degree murder charge.

The brothers are charged in connection with the death of Manuel Uribe, 21, of San Ysidro, whose body was found in a red van in the parking lot of the Euclid Convalescent Center, 1350 Euclid ave., San Diego.

Uribe's body had been encased in concrete for four days and an autopsy showed a skull fracture.

Deputy District Attorney R. G. Maino said that evidence supports the theory that Albert Hopkins met Uribe under the pretext of buying cocaine from him. During the meeting Uribe was allegedly robbed and killed.

Cyclist Without License Cited

Sheriff's deputies stopped a young man on a motorcycle at Washington and Blossom lane about 5:30 p.m. August 9 because his license number was obscured by a chain.

The man, Norman Charles Comer, 19, of 634 Parkbrook, Spring Valley, was unable to produce a valid drivers license nor registration slip for his vehicle.

Additional investigation turned up a knife and a cigarette which tested out to be marijuana.

He is being arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

The site is on 23 acres at Jamacha Blvd. and Sweetwater Springs rd. Picnic area, playgrounds, a snack bar and 288 stalls will make up the operation.

Fund-Raising Planned by Incorporation Organization

The incorporation effort isn't drying up.

It's just resting for a while as the finance committee raises funds to start a program of education.

John Stenbeck, a realtor of 8100 Broadway, Lemon Grove, is a co-chairman of Citizens for Incorporation and chairman of its finance committee. Other incorporation co-chairmen are Jim Dorman and Dell Lake.

Stenbeck said he intended to call a meeting early in September to explore ways and means of raising $5,000-$6,000 to pay for printing and postage of a campaign that would tell both sides of incorporation.

"It will not be a campaign to sell incorporation. It will be to tell facts," Stenbeck said.

Voters Misled

"Incorporation failed before because voters were told that incorporation would cause taxes to rise. Incorporation failed and taxes were raised anyhow. Voters were misled."

At the September "kick-off" Stenbeck said he would explain to those who will help with the fund-raising that the program will carry a biennial theme. The city, if voted in, would be activated on July 4, 1976 — 200 years to the day after all Americans gained their freedom.

"Of course, those of us who are leading the campaign want to have a city. But we want to have a healthy city. A healthy city is a boon to the people who live in it," he said.

"Most of the people who live here like it the way it is."

Thief Takes Router

A three h.p. router was taken from the shop of John W. Kelso at 3665 S. Granada, Spring Valley on August 15. Kelso, a carpenter, was away when the loss occurred. He established the loss at $300.

Merchants Losing Interest In Sign Ordinance Fight

By John Kowalczyk

County Ordinance No. 4366 appears to be winning at least the first round in the battle between County officials and Lemon Grove merchants.

Ordinance 4366 is the new County sign law passed by a 3-0 vote a year and two weeks ago today. (Supervisors Walsh, Bear and Taylor voted "aye", while Brown and Conde were absent at the fateful August 7th meeting).

A flurry of protest was voiced at a Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce meeting held in July where it was decided that some form of action should be taken to try to halt enforcement of the new changes to begin September 6 — in Lemon Grove first, because of its "proliferation of signs."

No Concerted Effort

Olin Thompson, chamber member appointed to the sign problem, had hoped to engage the services of a Beverly Hills attorney who is noted for his success in fighting sign ordinances. That plan is all but shelved as Thompson has discovered that a concerted effort by neither local merchants nor those in other unincorporated areas can be generated.

Having consulted with merchants in Julian, Alpine and Fallbrook as well as Lemon Grove, Thompson has resigned to the notion that the local Chamber "can't gather enough impetus to fight (the ordinance)."

"They all want to fight," he said, "But no one is willing to pay for the fight."

Thompson, whose Broadway street number is 4366, has been cited, but might be in future years as the new ordinance is phased in, believes that county merchants can defeat the ordinance with a "war chest" of $5000 for attorney fees. The money is not likely to materialize.

At least five Lemon Grove merchants face fines after August 7th meeting). A September 6 if signs are not removed or altered to suit county inspectors. Even among these few are mixed. The merchants cited have resigned to the fact that some changes will have to be made. But opinions vary as to whether the changes are worthwhile.

Signs Will Vanish

Jim Bushong of Alamo Vacuum & Sewing, will alter his sign because that's what the county wants. "There's not enough money to fight it so the only thing to do is comply," he said. He will paint his wall sign, remove the projecting sign and mount it to the wall.

George Domaille, Lemon Grove Optical Co., a few doors away, will do the same although he regards the sign ordinance as "absolutely stupid." He will remove his fresh-painted projecting sign to please county inspectors.

Most of the painted-on Popular Delicatessen sign will vanish by September 6. Own-

Good News

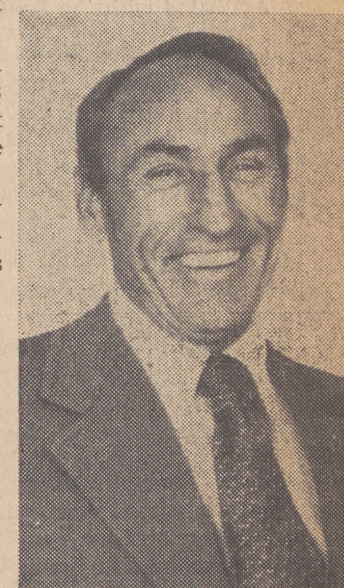

One item of good news was Coombs' discovery that Leonard Klein's Marder's Stationers sign was not in violation after all due to a technicality. The sign, originally cited to be a mere 4.2 sq. ft. over new legal limits was exempted from the first wave of enforcement because it is not a painted-on sign. Closer examination by Coombs determined that the sign was mounted onto the building.

Wallet with $190 Lost From Auto

Don't laugh fellows. It could have been something your own wife did.

Vicki Debra Kimble, 23, a housewife who lives on Calavo dr., Spring Valley, went shopping Tuesday at the Campon-Conrad Mayfair Market. Returning to her vehicle, she put her wallet on top of the car and her purchases inside.

Then she headed for home. The wallet, with its $190 in cash and her driver's license is missing. It fell off the roof of the car somewhere between the market and home.

Parents to Aid Stress Families

Persons interested in volunteering to help families in stress are now being recruited by a new, non-profit child protection agency, the YMCA Family Stress Center.

Center Director Gary D. Matthies says a mainstay in the effort to curb child abuse and neglect is using parent aides (veteran parents themselves) to be friendly weekly visitors, and to be available by telephone to help parents and children who are living confused and unhappy lives.

Since the people needing help are located throughout the greater San Diego area, volunteers involved in the program will not be required to travel long distances, Matthies said.

Those interested in being interviewed for the volunteer positions still open are urged to call Gary Matthies or Phyllis Ruth at the Family Stress Center, 425-5322.

Child abuse is a symptom of family crises and the Family Stress Center tries to help make the family stronger and more stable, Matthies said. One of the main concerns of the center is to make the San Diego community aware of child abuse and neglect before it can damage the parent or child.

Stress Problems

"Studies show that most child battering is done by seemingly normal people during a stress-filled time. Even in the more serious cases of abuse, less than 10 percent of the parents are alcoholic, emotionally disturbed or mentally ill. You might say child abuse and neglect results from a defect in parenting. That's where the parent aide program comes to the rescue," he said.

Parent aides can provide reassurance and understanding—and even genuine friendship. For example, some women parent aides serve as surrogate mothers to the parents, allowing them to learn how to "mother" while being mothered. Men parent aides provide similar support to the parents with whom they work.

Parents being helped can call the parent aides and can request a home visit at any time.

Each parent aide tries to become a model for healthy parenting. They are under the supervision of a professional staff member who meets with the aides at least once a week.

The parent aides help in crisis situations when parents are inclined to be abusive. When needed, they refer parents under stress to other health agencies in the community.

The center is jointly funded by the federal government's new National Center in Child Abuse and Neglect and the County of San Diego.

Consumers Told Facts About Canned Goods

Most of us use canned foods stand a long time, but this without ever giving a thought to just how convenient they are. Those soups and sauces that took your grandmother hours of chopping and simmering are right there on the shelf, ready to heat and serve any time.

Any vegetable or fruit is ready to go straight from the can to your dinner table all year round. But for the best use of these convenience foods, homemakers should learn how to take care of their goods—before and after opening.

The Food and Drug Administration has a fact sheet just for canned food users called Questions and Answers About Canned Foods. This valuable information is available free from Consumer Information, Department 44, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Here are some of the questions.

Where should I store canned goods?
The best storage area for canned goods is in a moderately cool, dry place. You should avoid storing them near steam pipes, radiators, furnaces and kitchen ranges.

How long will canned foods keep?
This is variable, but, generally speaking, if the can itself is normal in appearance the food inside should be wholesome. However, a regular turnover of once a year is recommended.

Is it safe to leave unused portions of canned foods in the can after opening?
Yes. But it is important to place the can inside the refrigerator, just as you would any other cooked food. Acid foods may dissolve a little iron from the can if they

DVA Director Here For Friday Meeting

Virginia Mae Days, state director of the Department of Veterans Affairs, addresses the monthly meeting of the California Veterans Board at 1:30 p.m. Friday in Room B-109 of the State Building, 1350 Front st. in San Diego.

Miss Days, twice appointed Mayor of the City of Morgan Hill and a practicing attorney with law offices in San Jose, was appointed DVA director by Governor Edmund G. Brown, Jr. in July. She is the first woman in the nation to head a state veterans affairs department.

The seven man Board, appointed by the governor, directs policy for the state DVA. Issues facing the Board at the Friday meeting will revolve around a Legislative Committee report requesting the department to issue a study regarding what must be considered before any decision can be made on phasing out the Veterans Home of California and placing the veterans into federal programs.

State Home
The Veterans Home, located at Yountville in the Napa Valley, has been operated by the state since 1897. More than 1,300 senior citizen veterans from the nation's wars reside there.

A second item facing the Board is a $500 million Cal-Vet bond issue needed to beef up the state's farm and home loan program to the state's veterans. This program, in force since 1921, makes low-interest loans at a present interest rate of 6 1/2 percent. SB-113 calls for the Cal-Vet bond issue to appear on the June 1976 Primary election ballot.

The seven-member board meetings are open to the public.

Parent Learns Role as Teacher In Night Class

Parents are teachers. So claims Bob Slack, Patrick Henry Adult School teacher who will conduct a special free class on the subject this fall.

The class will teach how parents and their children are teaching each other to behave as they do. Parents learn how those behaviors can be improved most effectively with the least tears for all. Practical techniques for guiding children, with a minimum of conflict, criticism and punishment, and how to communicate most effectively will be stressed in the course, Slack said.

Hours are 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesdays beginning September 16.

Enrollees should sign up as early as possible at the Adult school office at 6702 Wandering in San Diego.

Although the course is free, students will be required to buy the textbook, "Parents are Teachers" by W. C. Beck.

Eat and Grow Younger

Aging Too Quickly? You May Lack Protein

This week this newspaper starts a hard-hitting commentary on present-day food habits, "Eat and Grow Younger," by Lelord Kordel. The series is adapted from the book of the same name. Today's installment is the first of 24.

By Lelord Kordel
Number One of a Series

MR. U. AWOKE one morning to a disturbing discovery. A panicky feeling welled up from the pot belly that had begun to bulge out below his belt. He glanced across the breakfast table at Mrs. U. Dismayed, he realized for the first time that the woman facing him was in the same unpleasant fix as he now found himself. He was getting old — and so was she!

His usual zest for breakfast was gone! Why did people have to grow old so soon? He would long since been replaced or pensioned off.

"Not at all," came his quick reply. "I'm very lucky to have them. They are the backbone of my estancia. Most of them were with my grandfather. My worry is what I shall do without them. But that probably won't be for another 10 years or so."

Before leaving the estancia near Buenos Aires, I took a meal with Justino and the other gauchos down at their quarters. A whole sheep (sometimes it was a side of beef) was roasted in the skin over an open fire. When the meat was done to a turn, nicely browned on the outside but tender and juicy on the inside, large chunks were hacked off by each man with the long-bladed knife he wears at the back of his broad belt.

These large chunks of meat, followed by second and third helpings until nothing was left but the carcass, constituted the entire meal — no potatoes, no bread, no pie. Nothing but meat, followed by a gourd of the brew made from the green herb called mate. Yet this was not an exceptional meal with them — it was the diet they followed three times daily, year in, year out.

For Better Nutrition
Meat, of course, is another way of saving protein. For meat provides the highest type, most complete protein. "All very interesting," you may comment, "but is it good nutrition, this meat-and-mate diet of your gaucho?" To which I hasten to reply with a big, loud "Yes!" Far better nutrition than is to be found on the expensively itemized menus of the finest epicurean restaurants in our cosmopolitan centers, with their dozens of tempting dishes from which to choose — most of them too starchy, sweet and overcooked.

Remember, it is the nutritional pauper who early loses his vitality and glow of youth. Any person who surreits his body with carbohydrates and starves it of proteins is a nutritional pauper.

You'll meet protein in several guises later on. But regardless of the form in which it appears on your plate, protein will be right in there pitching for you, striking old age and pepping up slack muscles. Before you can hope to Eat and Grow Younger, you must make a mealtime companion of protein, your "youth restorer" food.

Oldsters' Stay Young
During a recent tour of South America, I met some remarkable oldsters with a talent for living long and vigorously. In Uruguay and Argentina I noticed an amazing number of older persons whose pep and stamina were nothing short of miraculous, compared to that of the average American of the same age.

On the other hand, in the more tropical parts of Brazil, I was singularly impressed by the lack of elderly persons to be seen on the streets. "A matter of diet," was my explanation, remembering the high-starch diets of tropical Brazil as compared to the meals I had noted being set before the Uruguayans in the city's splendid restaurants. Plates containing liberal portions of meat, roasted or broiled; bowls generously heaped with green salads; and trays of temptingly arranged fresh fruits.

Abilities Belie Years
In Argentina, on an estancia not far from Buenos Aires, I had a close-up view of those oldsters whose appearances and abilities belied their calendar years.

My host was a wealthy Argentinian, educated in England, whose estancia was devoted to raising blooded horses for racing and for polo. His pastures extended for thousands of acres and across them roamed large numbers of the finest horseflesh I've ever seen — and some of the youngest "old men."

"You're to be commended for keeping on those older fellows," I remarked to my host. "In my country they

Too Many Clerks Spoil the State, CCSW Reasons

An imbalance in statistics regarding female state employees didn't sit well with the California Commission on the Status of Women.

It was discovered that 60 per cent of all women full-time employees on the state payroll are in clerical positions, while women constitute only 2.5 per cent of administrative line incumbents.

As a measure to correct the imbalance, the Commission in a joint effort with the State Personnel Board, published "What's Your Next Move — Mobility Options for the Employees of the State of California."

The 48-page booklet lists information regarding the promotional process for state employees.

The publication is available, free, to state employees from the California Commission on the Status of Women, 926 J. st., Room 1003, Sacramento, CA 95814.

Persons not employed by the state may purchase the booklet from the State Documents Section, P.O. Box 20191, Sacramento, CA 95820.

Jamul Girl Receives 4-H Top Honors

A 17-year-old Jamul girl was selected one of five outstanding members of the 4-H youth movement in California to represent the organization for the 1975-76 year. Theresa Consuelo Nierodzinski, who years for a career in animal science or agribusiness, was named one of five Diamond Stars at a Northern California 4-H Leadership Conference at the University of California's Davis campus early this month.

Diamond Stars are selected on the basis of demonstrated leadership and citizenship. The award is the highest honor a 4-H member can earn in the state. The youths selected for the honor "are those who can serve as a model for other youngsters in these community attributes — and not just for demonstrated skills in some subject area," said Robert F. Davis, acting assistant director.

Theresa Consuelo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nierodzinski, is a member of the Jamul Chaperos 4-H. She has carried projects in vegetable gardening, horse forestry, clothing and junior leadership. She has participated in the dress revue, State Leadership Conference and the National Citizenship Short Course in Washington D.C.

HOME COOKED This Week's RECIPE

Lemons Make Tangy Bread

A lot of lemons are being squeezed this time of year, most of them for the favorite summer thirst-quencher lemonade. Here's a recipe which includes some lemon squeezing, but the end result, as delicious as it may be, will probably do more to augment your thirst than to quench it.

LEMON BREAD

3/4 cup margarine
1 1/2 cup sugar
3 eggs
2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1/4 teas. salt
1/4 teas. soda
3/4 cup buttermilk
Grated rind of one lemon
3/4 cup chopped nuts
Glaze:
Juice of two lemons
3/4 cup sugar

Preheat oven to 325°F. Grease and flour a 9x5x3 loaf dish. Cream margarine and sugar; beat in eggs. Sift dry ingredients together and add to batter, alternating with milk. Mix well. Stir in grated lemon rind and nuts. Pour into prepared loaf dish and bake in preheated oven about one hour and 20 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 15 minutes in dish. Remove from dish and cool completely in wire rack.

While loaf is baking, prepare glaze by combining lemon juice and sugar. Let stand to allow sugar to dissolve. After removing loaf from dish, pierce top with cake tester in

She Finds History In Trash Dumps

"Wanting to learn about a vanished civilization, science might best begin with its trash dump."

So says Marian Parks who last winter joined an expedition to learn more of the ancient history of a royal city in Northeastern Africa.

"Excavations in the Sudan at Merowe," will be the topic of a lecture and color slide presentation by Ms. Parks, an avocational archeologist, to the San Diego County Archeological Society. The meeting, open to the public, will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Community Hall in the town of Olivenhain, east of Encinitas.

"It's known that Merowe was an important iron-smelting center in ancient times," says Ms. Parks. "In this latest expedition we literally began at the slag dumps, in search of long lost furnaces, samples of original iron ore, and information about metallurgical techniques." During this most recent expedition two iron furnaces were located and excavated. The effort was sponsored jointly by the University of Calgary, Canada, and the University of Khartoum, Sudan.

The San Diego County Archaeological Society is a non-profit, scientifically-led organization devoted to the protection and interpretation of the prehistoric resources of this area.

Man Named Smith Is Man to Beat in SCORE'S 400 Race

Off-road racing became a professional sport with the first Mexican 1000 in 1967 and the winner was a motocyclist named Malcolm Smith.

Experts say he probably is the greatest all-around motor-cycle rider of all time and Smith is still in the top ranks of off-road racers but now in a dune buggy. With the rela-tively new challenge of a four wheel vehicle he is one of the favorites in the 3rd annual SCORE "AC-Delco World Championships" of off-road racing September 5-7 at Riv-erside International Raceway.

Now a Riverside business-man with two motorcycle companies occupying three buildings and employing 14 people, Smith finds it diffi-cult to evade his image as a motorcycle racer even though he is now a winner on four wheels.

The Canadian-born celebrity proved his claim as one of the world's best dune buggy drivers early this year when he won SCORE's "AC-Delco Parker 400." At Riverside Smith will drive a single-seat Sandvinder VW dune buggy in the highly competitive 1200cc class races.

Perhaps Smith is known as the star of the full length Bruce Brown film documenta-ry, "On Any Sunday," a 1971 movie which glamorized the sport of motocycling. That same year he won his fourth Gold Medal for the U.S. in the International Six Day Trials.

The "AC-Delco World Cham-pionships" is unique in off-road racing as it is the only race spectators can watch from comfortable grand-stands. SCORE may be reach-ed at (213) 437-0466.

Jeanne Joins Chris In Tennis Warfare

As her sister did before her, Jeanne Evert will make her Southern California debut in a women's tournament at Mis-sion Viejo.

The Florida teenager has committed to play in the $50,000 Mission Viejo Women's Tennis Classic Sept. 29-Oct. 5.

Just out of high school, Miss Evert is enjoying her first full season of tourna-ment. Still 17, she had not toured consistently until grad-uation because of her family's desire that she not interrupt her education.

In a career marked by flash-es of brilliance despite her older overshadowed by her older sister, Chris, Jeanne has upset many of the best play-ers in the sport, including Margaret Court and — when Jeanne was only 14 years old — Rosemary Casals.

She will be one of the sup-porting players in a draw of 56 headed by Chris Evert, the No. 1 player in the world.

No Smoking!

Beginning September 20, smoking will be banned throughout the county in ser-vice lines at stores and banks, in waiting rooms, public hall-ways of all health care facili-ties, elevators and buses.

The Board of Supervisors voted 3-2 approval of the ordi-nance and order that no smok-ing signs be posted in affect-ed areas. It will be illegal for service to be given to anyone who violates the new law. Fines up to $100 could be levied against violators.

It is not known who will enforce the ordinance — the sheriff's department or the person operating the facility. But the management could be fined if someone smoking in a restricted area were to be served.

The ordinance specifically exempts restaurants.

Caltrans Hangs Up Toll-Free Phone Line

Toll free telephone service to the California Department of Transportation in Sacra-mento, initiated in January, will be discontinued August 29.

A Caltrans spokesman said that the free phone will be discontinued because of the department's financial diffi-culties and because public re-sponse was small.

An analysis of the calls showed that most of the in-quiries could have been han-dled by the 11 field offices throughout the state at very little cost to the caller. The toll-free line cost Caltrans $20,000 for six months of ser-vice.

Sailors to Fly Kites for Head Start Program

San Diego's Head Start pro-gram is in need of funds, de-spite its Federal funding.

So, the project, adminis-tered by the County Economic Opportunity Commission, has decided to do something about it.

Sunday at San Diego Bay the fund-raising "Fly-a-Kite, Sail-a-Boat" race will begin. Entrants will fly a kite while they sail boats from North Is-land to Harbor Inland. The event begins at 11:30 a.m.

Proceeds will be used for disadvantaged children need-ing help with language and motor skills development. Field trips to the Zoo, bus rides, even picnics open up a new world to the children. Each child is provided with a hot lunch and a snack or breakfast of high nutritional quality.

Whatever the Reason— Baseball Attendance Grows

Everyone seems to have a the New Yorkers' biggest sin- reason for the record-busting gle day in their two seasons at the turnstiles in a number at Shea.

Of major league baseball parks. Each one of the rea- sons probably is correct.

Some think much of the credit goes to the big rival- ries which have developed. Others point to the magne- tism of the top players in the game and to the numerous newcomers who have dressed up lineups even more.

Some say baseball's moder- ate price scale is a major fac- tor. Still others give credit to the special attractions such as Straight A Programs or Old Timers games.

And some say it is purely because baseball is baseball, a national attraction for so many years.

"I have to believe it is a combination of factors," says Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who has seen the annual major league turnout grow steady-ly to the point it is possible the 24-team count could reach 30,000,000 for a third consecu- tive year in 1975. "I can't point my finger at just one factor and say 'this it is', but we have plenty to be happy about with the total attend-ance which attests to the over- all strength of the game."

Attendance has been well ahead of its 1974 pace (final total of 30,025,608) and the record-breaking level of 1973 (30,108,926) throughout the year. The absence of division- al races as tight as baseball executives would like to see appears to be the only factor which could prevent another record high before the 1975 season ends. Attendance reached 22,932,445 thru August 12.

Several memorable attend-ance milestones already have been placed on the books.

Dodgers Top Draw
Los Angeles continues to set a hard-to-beat pace. The Dodg-ers topped the 2,000,000 mark in their 55th home date Aug-ust 4, equalling the National League mark held by the New York Mets, who reached that milestone in their 55th date (August 21) in 1970. The Dodgers had hit the 1,000,000 mark earlier than anyone had ever done it, reaching that level in their 27th home date (June 9). Cleveland had hit one million in 28 home dates in 1948.

The Los Angeles-Cincinnati rivalry provides just as good a story. When the Dodgers and Reds lured six consecutive 50,000-plus crowds for their con-secutive weekend series (July 25-27 in Cincinnati, August 1-3 in Los Angeles), they jumped their total of 50,000 crowds to 16 in their last 24 meetings since early July of last year. Eight of the crowds have been attracted to Riverfront Stadi-um; eight to Dodger Stadi-um.

Padres Story
San Diego may have the most interesting story of all. The Padres drew 611,826 fans in 1973, jumped nearly half a million to a club record 1,075,399 last season, and were more than 200,000 ahead of that pace again this year when they reached the million mark on August 4. Ray Kroc's club most likely will double its '73 attendance this season.

American League
Boston and the New York Yankees were the American League counterparts. Cozy Fenway Park, which has a seating capacity listed at 33,379, had an average of 34,047 fans when Boston's four-game series record jumped to 136,187 during a Yankee visit June 26-29. The record had been 128,437 for a Yankee visit in 1968.

The Red Sox paid a return visit to New York July 25-27 and in just three days 131,183 fans showed up at Shea Stadi-um. It was the Yankees' big-est series in 11 year, and the 53,631 who saw the Sunday twin bill (several thousand more were turned away) was

Playoffs Eyed by Breakers

San Diego's Breakers and the Los Angeles Stars meet for the final time Friday in regular team play.

First serve is at 8 p.m. in the Sports Arena.

It could very well determine the number one-seeded spot in the forthcoming Farah Inter-national Volleyball Assn. Championship play-offs.

Play-offs pit the number one and fourth place teams against each other at the lat-ter's home court, while the second and third place teams face-off at the "show" spots home grounds.

The first-ever, World Cham-pionship Match, will be play-ed at the San Diego Sports Arena, August 30th at 8 p.m. Play-off dates tentatively are set for August 27 and 28th.

At the week's beginning the San Diego Breakers had drawn over 44,000 spectators through the turnstiles of the Sports Arena, and are looking to go over the 50,000 mark in their final two games.

The Breakers will probably open the play-offs at Santa Barbara or at S. California.

Golf For Cancer Is Hole in 1 Test

Southern California Golfers Assn. has teamed up with the American Cancer Society in Southern California to con-duct a "HOLE IN ONE FOR CANCER" contest. In San Di-go County twenty-seven coun-tries will participate in the con-test ending September 1.

The contest is already un-der way in Orange County and will get under way in San Diego over the week-end.

Gene Littler, honorary chair-man of the "HOLE IN ONE FOR CANCER" contest said, "Golfers of all ages are elig-ible to compete for awards, the $1 entry fee benefits the American Cancer Society in its fight against cancer."

Hole in One
Littler explained contest rules which include prelimi-naries, semi-finals and finals. "Golfers who sink a hole-in-one at the courses or ranges will receive trophies and au-tomatically become eligible for finals at Dodger Stadium, September 15 before the Dodgers- Padres game."

For those courses at which no holes-in-one are made, in-dividuals closest to the hole will receive certificates and become eligible to enter semi-finals at Mission Bay Golf Club on September 7. These

New Quarterback May Help Overcome Chargers Lackluster

by Max Goodwin
Look! Tommy, Look!
See Sandra run!
See Sandra keep the ball 17 times for 56 yards.
See Jesse throw 21 times!
See Jesse's 4 1/3 yards passing average!
See Virgil Carter, onetime NFL passing champion!
A primer lesson Tommy Prothro doesn't need — but his team does.
Prothro said, after Sunday's engagement, that the team would start with rudiments this week.
New Quarterback
He can also start with a new quarterback. Saturday's events must have been responsible for the accelerated action in the negotiations between Virgil Carter and Harlan Svare. Svare is the Chargers' general manager.
Carter, in 1971, had a league leading 62.2 per cent completion average with Cincinnati. After the 1972 season he became a free agent and signed with the Chicago Fire, the World Football League team but did not play in 1973 because of broken shoulder. He signed with the Chargers Monday.
Frustration
Frustration must have been among Prothro's thoughts after observing his quarterbacks Saturday and scanning the stats of the Lobos — San Diego's women's professional football team — Sunday.
2,000 Lobo fans were proclaiming, in the bright sun of Mesa College's stadium, that the quality of the Lobo's play was equal to that of the Chargers — and more exciting!
George Schutte, head official of the Lobos game, said after the game the women were surprisingly disciplined and they made few errors.
Few expected such a candid appraisal from an official. There were hazards, too. One of the statisticians asked, when a tackler fell prone on her back after a particularly vicious tackle, "who made that tackle?"
The spotter said, "I don't know. I can't see her number. It's between her breasts!"
Lobos Tie
The Lobos managed a 6 point tie against the L.A. Dandelions. Sandra Malhot, Lobos quarterback, gained 98 yards rushing — the exact distance Jesse Fietas, Charger quarterback, had gained passing AND rushing.
28,305 saw the Chargers lose to the N.Y. Giants 17-7 Saturday in a game highlighted by lackluster. But tonight's game is a cinch to be better. With a new quarterback of proven record and with a verbal nudging Prothro is suspected of having given his men, the team should emerge from the stadium tunnel with a different outlook on football life.
Sandlot Play
"It was (Saturday's game) an embarrassing exhibition. When we finally came to life in the second half, the offense played like a sandlot team. I want to win, but it wasn't the score that upset me. It was the way we performed," Prothro announced.
Dan Fouts was the announced starting quarterback tonight against the San Francisco 49ers but it would surprise no one if Carter sees some action if the 49ers take a commanding lead. He couldn't be expected to start the team however without learning the team's playbook.
Tonight at 8
Tonight's game, starting at 8 p.m. is sponsored by the Leadership Club as a youth benefit. $2 of every ticket over 30,000 goes into the fund. $1 for all others. Tonight's tickets are not included in the season ticket packet but plenty of seats are available.
The 49ers lead the Chargers in NFL play 1-0. In pre-season it's the Chargers 3-2. Last year the Chargers beat them 20-6 in the all-rookie openers at San Diego.
Broadcast
Andy Musser and Dick Van Raaphorst will air the game on KSDO. Bob Chandler will host the countdown show at 6. A tape replay with Mike Smith and Dave Campbell will be telecast Sunday at 5 p.m.
The Chargers make their first road trip next week. They will play the Cardinals at St. Louis Saturday night.

Charger Bus Schedule

Special buses will be in service starting at 6:30 p.m. for the San Diego Chargers/San Francisco 49ers football game to be held at the San Diego Stadium tonight.
Game time is at 8.
Riders can board the stadium specials at the southwest parking lot of Grossmont and College Grove Shopping centers.
The stadium fare is 50 cents a trip and enables riders to travel from any point on San Diego's transit system, changing buses where necessary, to connect with a stadium special.
Passengers should tell the driver when boarding that their destination is the stadium and the driver will issue a transfer which allows the rider transfers to connect with a stadium bus.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

It's a football game, but right there the story shifts. The game comes with a new philosophy, with a new responsibility and on a strange day.
Who ever heard of a football game being played on a Thursday that wasn't Thanksgiving Day? A Thursday in August, no less. Mid-week. Between working days.
Thursdays are not rated one of the bigger crowd pulling days. John and Mary are not likely to bundle up the kids, crank up the old family camper and tailgate it on the Stadium blacktop on just any Thursday night.
There's work the next day for mom and pop. And more than likely there's summer camp or summer work for one or more of the kids.
Friday nights are better. At least you can sleep in to a reasonable hour on Saturday, unless you're 12 or under and your big thrill of the week comes with Saturday morning cartoon shows on television.
Saturday nights are even better, because just about everybody sleeps in on Sunday morning. Don't forget, Saturday nights invented noon Mass and mid-day services.
And for a football game, there's nothing like a crisp, deep fall Sunday afternoon. Thrilling action in a chilling state, with bright team colors matched by the march of nature as she dresses for her winter's slumber.
That's football.
So what reason could anyone have to put on a football game on a Thursday night in August? The answer is simple. Plenty.
Tommy Prothro just couldn't believe what he saw last Saturday night when he sent his San Diego Chargers against the New York Giants. He called it "an embarrassing exhibition."
He doesn't care for the three yards and a cloud of dust his quarterbacks create on offense. The Chargers' defense seems to be coming around, but one should be reminded, they have played nearly twice as much as the offense.
Prothro's answer to his embarrassment is work. His own words were, "work like hell."
And Thursday suits his purpose. If you stink on Saturday, and you know it, you have to work like hell to be ready to try again the following Thursday. The short week could be a tonic on the mental approach players bring up to the line of scrimmage. And right, that's where they're losing it.
Prothro's pachyderm practice against the San Francisco 49ers in this unique Thursday thriller. You remember the 49ers? Steve Spurrier? Gene Washington? Wilburn Jackson? And that wonder of wonders, a rookie quarterback who comes in and plays like a pro: Tom Owens!
Yeah, those 49ers. The same bunch of leather toters expected to give the Los Angeles Rams a real run for the NFC's Western Division crown. They have running and receiving and strong arms that like to throw hard, deep and often. Playing the 49ers is no simple test for Tommy's tigers, they'll be a full-grown examination. It'll be a helluva game.
Which is exactly what a benefit contest ought to be. The Chargers do not play the 49ers merely to be playing a mid-summer, mid-exhibition season, mid-week altercation simply for the exercise. They have loftier goals. They play and will pay, for benefit of others. For kids, even as you and I once were.
A wise man once said that children were a great comfort in one's old age... and they help you reach it faster, too. Especially at today's pace.
The Big Brothers of San Diego and some of their friends have banded together to promote Thursday's contest in behalf of thousands of youngsters who can use a helping hand at the difficult process of being a kid today. It ain't no easy thing being a kid these days. Not in the world they're coming up in.
The Chargers will donate $1 for each of the first 30,000 fans entering the Stadium for the 49ers game, and $2 for everyone after that. A full house would mean something like $70,000 would fatten the coffers of Big Brothers, the Boys Club, the Girls Club and Neighborhood House.
No matter how you cut it, Thursday night is some kind 'a night for a football game.

Veteran Andretti Heads IROC Championships

RIVERSIDE — Mario Andretti, major format change in the dretti, conspicuously absent 1975-76 IROC. Instead of having the first two International Race of Champions a final fourth round championship as it was previously, drivers competing in the 1975-76 edition.

Andretti, the 35-year-old veteran American road racing and Indianapolis star, was among 10 names released today by IROC operations manager Les Richter.

The IROC is a series of four races matching 12 of the world's top drivers in identical racing cars. The first event is scheduled for September 13 at Michigan International Speedway.

The other nine drivers signed for the $212,000 series include stock car drivers Richard Petty, David Pearson, Bobby Allison and Benny Parsons, Indianapolis 500 champion Bobby Unser and international road racing stars Emerson Fittipaldi, Brian Redman, Jody Scheckter and James Hunt.

First Appearance

Andretti, Parsons, Hunt and Redman will be making their first appearances in the young series.

Andretti had been invited to compete in the first two IROCs, Richter says, but was unable to accept because of contractual restrictions with a sponsor. That sponsorship no longer exists and Andretti has signed his IROC contract.

Richter says invitations have also been extended to USAC champion A. J. Foyt and Austrian Formula One driver Niki Lauda, but they have not yet signed.

Andretti is a three-time USAC national champion and former winner of the Indianapolis 500 (1969), the Daytona 500 (1967) and the Spanish Grand Prix (1971).

Richter also announced a

Most Meaningful
"Most of the drivers have said the championship would be more meaningful to them if it was based on overall performance rather than on one race," Richter said.

The format, otherwise, will be identical to last year's. The first race at Michigan will be on the two-mile oval, the second and third races will be on the 2 1/2 mile tri-oval at Daytona Beach, Fla.

The cars used this year will be updated versions of the same Chevrolet Camaros used last season.

All four events will again be taped for later telecasting by ABC Television Sports.

Smith, Jones In Champ Hall

For the second time this year motocyclist Marty Smith and Padre pitcher Randy Jones have earned a professional Star of the Month recognition from the San Diego Hall of Champions Breitbard Athletic Awards Committee.

While they were being named top performers in July, Mrs. Connie Hoyle was selected as amateur Star of the Month for winning the women's division in the 15th annual U. S. International skeet shooting championships held at Chardon, Ohio. The Poway resident, who took the same event in 1971, also was named to represent the U. S. in the World Moving Target competition in Munich.

Smith, a former Point Loma High student continued a sensational series of 1975 showings by becoming the first American ever to make a perfect score in world class racing when he captured both legs of the 125 cc United States Grand Prix Motocross. In doing so, he beat out Yoshifumi Sugio of Japan and Gilbert Deroover of Belgium.

Jones became the first San Diego Padre pitcher to be chosen for the Major League All-Star game, and his ninth-inning effort helped the Nat'l League club turn back the American Leaguers. He also ended July with a 13-6 mark, had the lowest ERA in the circuit for starting pitchers and led the league in shutouts.

Jones and Smith earlier had been named Stars of the Month for May.

Middleweight Brooks

The Hall of Champions granted five Certificates of Achievement to participants in a variety of sports.

Recipients were Tommy Brooks, winner of the middleweight title in the 1975 North American boxing championships; Danny North, who led the way in the Sabot Junior Nat'l sailing regatta; Paul Allen for winning the Tornado Catamaran division in the Canadian Olympic Regatta; Tony Hayden, 165-pound class winner in the U. S. Junior Olympic weightlifting championships, and Sally Anderson, who topped the junior ladies class in the U. S. Figure Skating Association Junior Olympics.

No Throne for Queen

A throne chair, valued at $114, was taken from her home at 7810 Barton dr., Lemon Grove, Deanne Marie Penney told sheriff's deputies on August 14.

She gave officers the name of a suspect.

Wrestling Moves To Sports Arena

Danny Millsap moves his wrestling stars to the San Diego Sports Arena beginning Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

For more than a year he has been holding the events at the Coliseum in downtown San Diego.

"We will curtain off the west end of the arena and set the ring at about the same position that is used for the hockey goal," he said.

The Saturday event is billed as a "Twin Tag Battle" with Golden Greek Jim Tolos and Choi Sun meeting Japan's Hiroshima Joe and Sir Oliver Humberdick.

Mexico's Gordman and The Goliath meet The Inferno and Manager Dykes is the twin companion piece.

Other matches pit Raul Mata against The Butcher; The Samoan, Reno Tuu Fuli against The Fabulous Aussie, and Hurricane Hester versus Aitkin.

Tickets are $2.50-$4. Kids under 5, free. Popcorn is 10 cents.

Millsap said patrolled parking and air-conditioning would attract more attendance than the 2,000 or so that regularly attend his Coliseum matches.

Matches will be scheduled on other Saturday nights when the Arena has open dates, Millsap said.

Chuck Shriver Named Publicity Chief for Sails

Charles A. "Chuck" Shriver, former public relations director for the Chicago Cubs in the National Baseball League, was this week named director of communications and assistant general manager of the American Basketball Ass'n. San Diego Sails.

The announcement was made by Irv Kaze, Sails general manager.

As a member of the Cubs organization for 8 years, Shriver was responsible for publicity, day-to-day statistics, promotions, publications, speakers bureau, and was club spokesman for news announcements to the media.

Kaze said, "Chuck is one of the top young executives in professional sports. I am delighted to have him with us. He'll be a most valuable addition to the club."

"The Sails impressed me as a first class organization from our first contact," said Shriver. "The Cubs team is one of the outstanding operations in baseball, and the one reason I would leave is to join a team that I can help mold into the same sort of organization."

The native Mid-Westerner was with WGN-TV and WGN radio in Chicago, the voice of sports in the mid-west, for five years as assistant sports editor before joining the Cubs.

He has also been associated with WLS radio, Chicago, UPI, and the Northern Star newspaper, DeKalb, Illinois.

Shriver will begin his new duties around September 1st.

Russian Spikers Scheduled in SD

The Russian Olympic men's volleyball, rated by many experts as the number one volleyball team in the world, will play the U. S. national team at the San Diego Sports Arena Thursday night, September 4.

The contest is part of a cross-country tour sponsored by the U. S. Volleyball Association.

The Russian team is considered the likely favorite for the gold medal in the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.

The U. S. national team, which is presently working out at UC Irvine, is rated the best ever assembled by this country. The American team will consist of one or more players from the San Diego area.

Drug Firms File Suit Alleging Dangers in Generic Substitutes

Warning consumers they higher prices. Variations Cited Dr. Butcher pointed to re- to act — no approval one way would face serious health risks, four California physi- cians and the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association have filed suit challenging a Board of Pharmacy regulation allowing pharmacists to substitute — without physician consent — generic drugs for those prescribed. The regulation, issued in July by the California State Board of Pharmacy, overturned a previous Board regulation prohibiting substitution.

Drs. Richard O. Butcher and John Bishop of San Diego, Ardath Wightman of Fullerton, J. W. Johnson of La Jolla, and the non-profit trade association of research-based drug firms filed suit in the Superior Court of Sacramento County.

Wildlife Federation Can Identify 'Slobs of Year'

Subing is Unlawful

The lawsuit charges that since drug substitution violates existing California law, the regulations are not legally valid. "Criminal statutes now on the books prohibiting substitution protect patients by ensuring they get exactly what their doctors ordered," said Richard O. Butcher, spokesman for the group. He said that if the Board's regulation is permitted to stand, Californians would be stripped of an important health safeguard.

The new substitution regulation was drafted in an attempt to lower costs of prescription drugs by permitting the patient to demand generic ingredients rather than the highly touted name brand drugs with similar chemical make-up but considerably

More Fly AirCal

Air California carried a record 150,114 passengers during the month of July, the largest total in the company's eight year history. Preliminary figures indicate an increase of 18.8% over the same period in 1974.

Among the millions of Americans now winding up their summer vacations, who will win the 1975 Slob of the Year Award?

The Minnesota fisherman who left a campfire burning? The New York couple who left the plumbing in their rented cottage clogged up without notifying the owner? The Illinois family that dumped its last week's garbage into a nearby stream?

If there were such an award, none of these would be in the running, according to the National Wildlife Federation, when compared to the family that shutters its summer home and drives back to the city leaving its pets behind.

Household pets — mostly dogs and cats — are being abandoned by the tens of thousands this year, the NWF reports. Some are being "dumped" at country crossroads by owners who can no longer afford the sky-high price of pet food. Others are turned loose when their owners move into new apartments that ban pets.

Whatever the cause, the owners usually rationalize that it is more "humane" to abandon a pet than to turn it into an animal shelter. Actually, the Wildlife Federation points out, they are creating a problem — a new national problem — rather than solving one.

Because household pets, cast loose to fend for themselves, must turn wild or "feral" (fierce) in order to survive. And feral pets, particularly wild dogs running in packs, are a menace to humans, to domesticated animals, and even to wildlife.

They can kill as many as 5,000 head of cattle in just one state in a single year — as they did in Georgia three years ago. They can kill household pets, goats, sheep, and horses. And they can maim or even kill children, as many suburban police forces have learned in recent years.

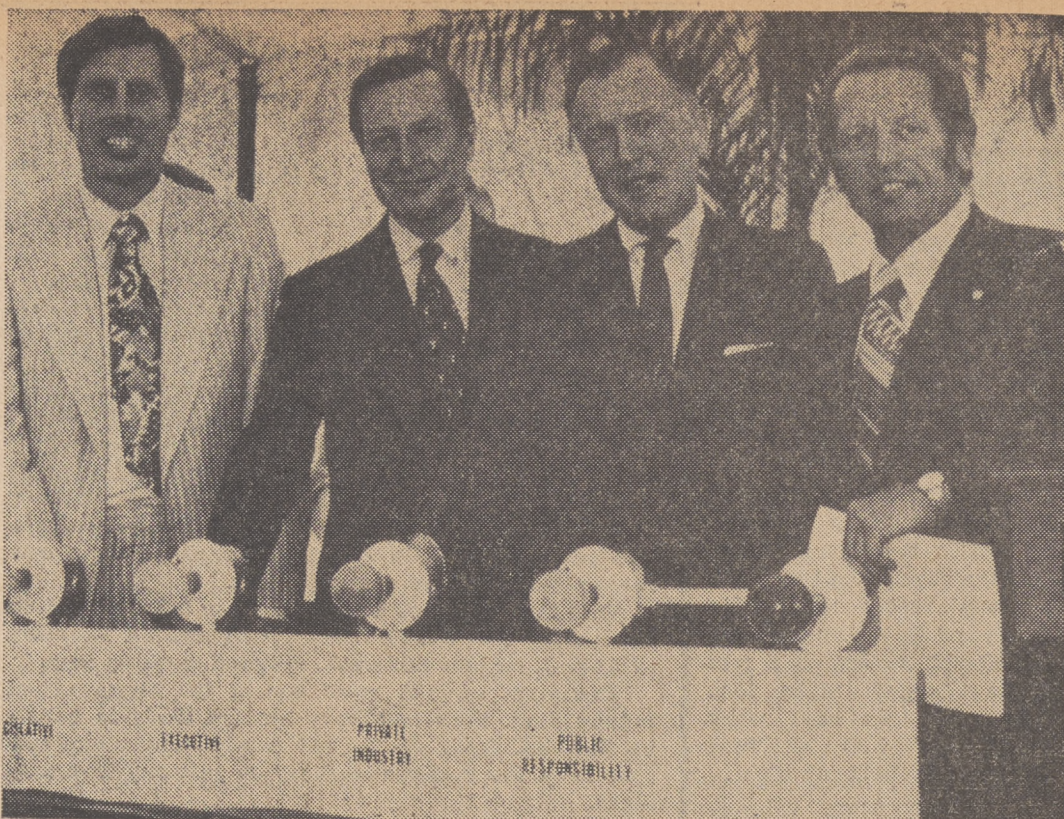

Pets turned predators also take a toll of wildlife. Feral dogs learn to pick off pheasants, baby rabbits, and other small mammals. Deer are especially prone to attack by dog packs in winter because the dogs can run on top of the snow crust while deer cannot. In Pennsylvania alone more than 500 whitetail deer were killed by dogs last winter.

Overhauling all these unpleasant statistics is an even worse prospect — the threat of a rabies epidemic. The lifespan of abandoned dogs and cats is estimated at less than two years, but in that time most manage to produce a litter or two, according to NWF, and the feral offspring never receive rabies shots. An estimated 15,000 puppies and kittens for whom there will never be a home are born every hour.

What can be done? The Connecticut Wildlife Federation, an NWF affiliate, recently looked at this little-understood dilemma and concluded that new laws alone will not solve the problem. Severe penalties for abandoning pets and tax-supported neutering and spaying programs may help, but in the end there must be a greater "public awareness" of the problem.

Successful operation of the plant is expected to show that the recovery process is an economical and ecological method for disposing of 200 tons per day of municipal solid waste. The process is also expected to demonstrate that production of an industrial heating oil from municipal solid waste offers a partial solution for the energy shortage, and that metals and glass can also be recovered for recycling into the economy.

The plant's recycling capabilities will lessen the need for the use of landfills and other traditional methods of disposing of solid waste materials. If the plant proves successful it is quite likely that the process may become the world's

Garbage May be Fuel of Future

San Diego area residents answer to economical solid be discharged into a sanitary sewer system following removal of settleable solids. No significant impact on the treatment plant appears likely as this effluent is equivalent to the waste produced by less than 200 people.

Special precautions have been taken to insure that no odors emanate from the plant. All solid waste will be unloaded in a fully enclosed building, and no waste will be stored at the site longer than 24 hours. The pyrolysis process will be fully contained so that there are no odors. Air used in the plant's recovery process will be treated and filtered before being released into the atmosphere.

Waste Ton Makes Barrel Utilizing a flash pyrolysis process, the plant will recover about one 42-gallon barrel. Glass will also be recovered and an aluminum recovery system is being considered for inclusion in the plant.

Flash pyrolysis is the physical and chemical decomposition of organic material brought about by the action of heat in the absence of oxygen. EPA Funds The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency is providing for construction and evaluation of the demonstration plant with a $3.5 million grant to the County of San Diego.

The San Diego County Department of Sanitation and Flood Control, the agency responsible for solid waste disposal in the County, is the owner and operator of the facility. The County is providing $2 million to carry out the program.

The purpose of the plant is to test the principles of the flash pyrolysis process under normal day-to-day operating conditions, utilizing municipal solid waste. Information collected on the operation of this plant will aid government and industry of the nation in evaluating the technical aspects of the process. The project should also determine whether the products justify the cost.

Arrangements call for SDG&E to pay for the fuel. Initial shipments will be credited against the utility's capital expenditures to modify their boilers and after that investment has been paid, the utility will begin paying the County for the fuel it uses. The County also intends to contract with private enterprises for sale of the recycled glass and ferrous metals produced at the plant.

The resource recovery demonstration plant is free of health and environmental hazards sometimes associated with conventional disposal methods. The 16,800 gallons of water per day used by the plant will

Aluminum Cans Worth 15¢/lb., Free Rides

There is a new benefit in collecting old aluminum cans for recycling: free rides at Belmont Park.

During the month of August, can collectors turning in used, aluminum cans to any ALCOA "Yes We Can" center will receive a coupon good for one free ride at Belmont Park, in addition to 15 cents per pound for the cans.

The coupons are good for weekdays through August 29. More than 20,000 ride tickets will be distributed through 17 reclamation stations throughout San Diego County.

The "Yes We Can" program began in September, 1970, as a partial solution to the problem of litter and solid waste. Since then, nearly 280 million cans have been collected, totalling more than 12.7 million pounds. This means the people of San Diego have been paid nearly $1.5 million for old aluminum cans.

Nearby "Yes We Can" centers are at College Grove Shopping Center and Grossmont Shopping Center. Both centers are open Saturdays 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Insurance Firms Now Admit No-Fault Costs Users Less

The nation's two largest automobile insurance companies now agree that no-fault auto insurance applied nationally would save consumers upwards of $800 million a year, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., reported.

Van Deerlin said the Allstate Insurance Co. now finds that pending no-fault legislation would result in 9.3 percent lower costs to the average driver for bodily injury liability coverage.

Van Deerlin is chairman of the House Subcommittee on Consumer Protection and Finance, which has held nine days of hearings on no-fault bills. Under the no-fault concept, auto accident victims would usually be compensated by their own insurance companies regardless of who was to blame for the mishap.

Allstate, the second largest auto insurance underwriter, earlier had predicted a slight increase in premiums if a no-fault bill were enacted. At the request of Van Deerlin's subcommittee, the company revised its criteria to make the new study showing the decrease in premium costs.

Van Deerlin said he is "delighted" that Allstate and the nation's number one automobile insurer, State Farm Insurance Co., now agree no-fault insurance would be less costly.

"We can go ahead and draw up our own bill with confidence about its cost impact," the San Diego lawmaker added.

He said the main benefits of no-fault would be the faster settlement of claims and more equitable payments to victims.

College Lecture Series Reads Like Who's Who

A wave of Who's Whos, ranging from an Israeli general to a prickly-pear cactus eating nutritionist, will invade the campus halls at Southwestern College during the coming school year. The college recently announced its artist/lecture series for the 1975-76 school year sponsored by the Associated Student Organization and the Community Services Office.

The series opens October 4 with General Moshe Dayan as guest lecturer. He will speak in the College Gymnasium at 8 p.m. His topic is "World Powers and the Middle East."

General Dayan is flying in from Israel for a lecture tour of the United States. During his last visit he met with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to offer his constructive suggestions and ideas for a solution to the Middle East crisis.

DMV Research To Cut Down Cycle Injuries

Hope for a 10 to 15-percent reduction in California motorcyclist injuries was voiced by Department of Motor Vehicles Director Herman Sillas in confirming DMV's participation in a nationwide research project designed to improve safety for motorcyclists.

DMV has been awarded a $600,000 contract to conduct motorcycle operator testing on an off-street range facility starting in January 1976 and continuing through December 1977. The contract, awarded to DMV after competitive bidding involving almost every state in the nation, was announced by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

"There were more than 530 fatal accidents and 21,000 injuries involving motorcycles this year," Sillas stated, "almost half of which were being operated by younger or less-experienced riders with minimum knowledge of their equipment."

The project will include motorcycle driver education and training for those applicants who fail a new, improved test recently instituted by DMV.

"We hope to demonstrate that a more comprehensive motorcycle driver licensing program, consisting of a combination of an improved screening test and remedial training, will result in a significantly lower accident rate," Sillas explained.

The demonstration project will be conducted in the Sacramento area, using cyclists applying for licenses in Sacramento and Placer County DMV offices. A control group of at least 8000 persons will be tested and trained.

20% Staff Cut Announced by Caltrans Chief

Financially troubled California Department of Transportation has announced that it will reduce its staff by 20 percent by July, 1976.

The decision, announced by Caltrans director Howard C. Ulrich, means that about 3,300 of the 16,450 person department will be taken off the payroll.

"We have begun procedures to lay off as many as 1,650 persons by early 1976," Ulrich said. "The number of layoffs depends on whether or not turnover — retirements and other resignations — is enough to bring manpower down in line with our reduced program level."

Within the previous month, Caltrans has announced freezes on new construction contracts and stopped all general acquisition of rights of way for new highways in the midst of a deepening cash crunch brought on by lowered state revenues and soaring inflation.

To minimize layoffs, the Department has liberalized its rules governing leaves of absence, stepped up efforts to find jobs for its employees and frozen hiring and promotions.

Caltrans San Diego office employs 1,092.

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I am a waitress in a restaurant. Do I have to report all tips I receive to both my employer and the Federal government?

A. All tip income is subject to tax and must be reported on your return. If you receive $20 or more in tips for a month working for one employer, you must report that income to your employer by the 10th day of the following month. Such amounts of tips are subject to withholding of income tax and social security tax.

To report tips to your employer, use Form 4070 (available from the nearest IRS office) or submit a report with your name and address, your employer's name and address, your social security number, the month covered, and your signature and the date. For your own records, use Form 4070A to record the written reports to your employer. Both Form 4070 and Form 4070A are contained in IRS Document 5635.

Q. My tax return has just been audited. I don't agree with some of the changes proposed by the IRS. What can I do to appeal the findings of the audit?

A. If the examination was made in an IRS office, you could have requested an immediate meeting with a supervisor. If agreement was not reached at that point, or if the examination was not made in an Internal Revenue office, IRS will send you: 1) a copy of the examination report explaining proposed changes in your return; 2) a transmittal letter explaining further appeals you can make and giving you 30 days to respond.

If after receiving the examination report you agree with the examiner's findings, you may pay the additional amount owed without waiting for a bill. You must include interest on the additional tax from the due date of the return to the date of payment.

If you do not agree with the examiner's findings, you may appeal your case to higher levels of the IRS before you go to court.

S.B. 220 to Augment L.G. School Funding

Last minute legislation in that the state bill's passage Sacramento painted a rosier picture for Lemon Grove School officials August 7 as the school district's board of trustees met to approve the school system's annual budget for the coming year.

The meeting was scheduled for Thursday instead of the usual Tuesday to allow more time for the state legislature to act on SB 220, an important funding bill to school districts throughout the state.

Good News

Minutes before the meeting, news broke that the State Assembly had passed the bill.

The final amount approved by the governing board was $4,789,128. The figure was $152,143 over the publication budget approved at a July meeting. The budget breakdown was published in this newspaper July 31.

Last minute revisions in budget estimates accounted for a net increase in funds anticipated.

Largest single share of the increase is the $78,750 anticipated from S.B. 220. Governor Brown signed the $88 million bill last Thursday.

Man Revived in Store; Faces Opiate Charge

Lemon Grove sheriff's deputies responding to a call at the 7-11 Store at 3800 Massachusetts ave. in Lemon Grove about 8 p.m. on July 30, found a man who appeared to be dead.

He responded to first aid treatment after a while although he was reported to be incoherent. Investigation turned up fresh needle marks on the subject's arm but he showed no signs of physical injury.

Officers transported the man to the Sheriff's Lemon Grove station where he underwent other tests before being transported to County Jail where he was booked on a charge of being under the influence of an opiate.

The man, Elmer Gene Rakow, 25, of 9858 St. George st., Spring Valley, will be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

DMV Lines to be Thinner With Year-Round Renewal

If the middle letter on your automobile plate is E and the middle number is 8, your automobile expiration date for 1976 will remain as always, in December.

But all other letter and number combinations will result in new expiration dates spread throughout 1976 and into 1977, according to Herman Sillas, State Director of Motor Vehicles.

It's all part of DMV's massive conversion to year-round vehicle registration effective this winter to eliminate those block-long lines in Motor Vehicles offices every year and thus spread the workload evenly throughout the year.

To assure that everyone gets the word, auto dealers, salesmen, bankers and loan officers of lending agencies in the state are undergoing intensive orientation and training in preparation for the changeover.

Sillas said an all-out effort is being made through the education program to reach as many people as possible who are involved in vehicle registration.

120 Deadlines
The calendar year has been divided into 120 registration deadlines. An equal number of the 16 million vehicle registrations in California will expire on each of the dates. The expiration dates are being selected by computers and will be based upon a formula using a combination of license plate letters and numbers.

The department will start mailing registration renewal notices in October, with registration periods ranging from 7 to 18 months.

If a renewal date comes sooner than 12 months, the renewal fee will be less than the normal fee for the full year and if the renewal date comes later than 12 months, the fee will be greater than normal.

"For instance," Sillas explained, "if your renewal is for seven months, you will pay 7/12ths of the usual fee." The procedure is necessary in order that an equal number of registrations fall due each month.

"It will all even out in the end," Sillas said, "but to offset the inconvenience to those who will have to register their vehicles again in 1976 and others who will be paying for more than just a one-year registration, the department is deducting 10 percent from the total fee."

After payment of the registration costs, California motorists will receive two stickers to be placed on the plate instead of one as in the past. One will indicate the year of registration and the other the month of expiration.

No Answer!
Thieves entered the Vada-Lois Beauty Shop on August 13 and took the firm's telephone answering device. Ann Lafferty, who operates the firm which is at 7609 Broadway in Lemon Grove, said the intruders entered a rear door of the establishment which of- fers said was not locked.

The device is valued at $129.

ARB Tells How To Avoid Air Pollution Danger

The State's Air Resources Board (ARB) has issued a self-help fact sheet for dealing with air pollution episodes. The ARB recommends actions to be taken by the elderly, the chronically ill, the exercising young and by sensitive persons with chronic lung disease or asthma at air pollution episode stage one. The same actions should be taken at any stage by healthy adults who feel effects, and by the general public at stage 3.

Stage 1 is reached when oxidant concentrations (measured as ozone) reach .20 parts per million for one hour.

Stage 3 is reached when oxidant concentration is .50 ppm for one hour.

The ARB advises that during such episodes, the groups mentioned above should avoid strenuous outdoor physical activity, remain indoors, do not smoke, avoid aerosols, dusts, fumes and other irritants, avoid traffic congested areas and avoid contact with persons suffering from respiratory infections.

The fact sheet is available by writing to the Air Resources Board, 1709 11th st., Sacramento 95814.

Register to Vote at DMV After Sept. 15

Starting September 15, Californians may renew their driver's license or register their vehicle and register to vote at the same time. The DMV will begin year-round voter registration service next month as an added convenience to residents, particularly those who are new to the county.

Voter registration has been provided by the DMV in the closing weeks of registration in a general election year, but this is the first time the service will be offered on a year-round basis.

Corvette Cannibalized

Tommy Leon Harris, who lives in an apartment complex at 7025 Waite dr. in Lemon Grove, was shocked Friday morning when he approached his Corvette parked in the tenant parking area.

Gone were his luggage rack, valued at $25; rear window, $40; two removable roof panels, $100; four wheel covers, $160, and the horn button, $50.

His total loss amounted to $350 and there is no evidence as to who took his goodies.

Property Tax Assistance For Senior Citizens

The deadline for filing Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance claims is September 2, and any eligible individuals who have not yet filed their claims should do so immediately, said Jack Monroe, Director of the program for the Franchise Tax Board.

In order to qualify, an individual must have been 62 years of age or older as of January 1, 1975, owned and lived in his home between July 1, 1974 and June 30, 1975, and have had a total household income of $10,000 or less.

More than 263,000 claims have been received since the filing season began May 16, Monroe said. Senior citizens who have already filed claims for this year should not refile, he added, as this could cause delay in processing the original claim.

Approximately $50 million in assistance payments were made in 1974 on 310,000 claims. This represents an average reimbursement of $161 each. The law provides for reimbursement of up to 96 percent of the property taxes paid, depending upon the income of the individual.

Specifics and claim forms may be obtained from any office of the Franchise Tax Board, or by writing to Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, P.O. Box 1588, Sacramento, CA 95807.

Manganese Poisoning Is New Health Threat

Two recent cases of manganese poisoning in the state have caused concern among physicians, California Medical Association reported.

Manganese is a chemical used principally in the manufacture of metal alloys, dry-cell batteries, fertilizers and various chemicals. While it is an essential chemical in human tissue, too much manganese in the system leads to a serious deterioration of the central nervous system. Symptoms of the disease include clumsiness in walking, speech disturbances, drowsiness, depression and crying spells.

Writing in the California Medical Association's Western Journal of Medicine, Drs. Charles H. Hine and Aurelio Pasi of San Francisco report that manganese poisoning seldom appears until after several years exposure to the chemical. Unless detected early, recovery is slow and often incomplete.
